THE ACTIVISION LITTLE COMPUTER PEOPLE DISCOVERY KIT™

After years of speculation and months of intensive work, the Activision Little Computer People Research Group has successfully discovered and actually lured out small, living creatures who have been living in the confines of standard, everyday computers.

And now you too can join in on the discovery by actually meeting the Little Computer People (LCP) in your computer. We'll give you everything you'll need for the task: A special 2½ story house-on-a-disk (your Little Computer Person's new residence), an informative guide to the care of and communication with LCP, an authorized "Deed" enabling you to register your house-on-a-disk and your own copy of Modern Computer People—a fabulous, full-color magazine which chronicles the discovery of the LCPs!

Research in progress on: Commodore 64/128 and Apple II series computers.
